

Property 'Prattle'

Do you ever wonder what to believe in the current times when all talk of property value direction is seemingly one way?

Have you ever felt like attending a focused conversation about what is generally our biggest personal investment?

Want some facts behind the headlines and scare stories?
Cobble Country Property invite you to register for a place at an upcoming discussion group when we will host a short meeting where you can listen or share thoughts on the current market.

We are running the first meeting to coincide with Red-Nose day around March 13th so please call 015396 21000 now or look online at www.cobblecountry.co.uk for full details.

As part of our fundraising for this event you will be invited to guess the date that an average house on Bainbridge Road, Sedbergh may be priced at £2,500,000 (that's £2.5 MILLION)

Yes please,

I want to join you and other like minded individuals for an informal discussion covering some aspects of the current property market and considering where the future lies for property in this country and beyond. In particular, I am interested to know and share thoughts on the following (marking in the left column 1-5 where 1 is most important)

When might be the best time to sell a property with or without possible negative equity?

Is it possible to rent a property at a 'profit' or cover mortgage costs?

How soon might it be a good time to buy property again?
